OHIO GLEANINGS

Leonard Housh, 34, was shot and instantly killed near Mansfield when a rabbit knocked down and discharged a gun that had been placed against a tree stump.

George Riester, engineer, was killed and eight persons were injured when an eastbound passenger train on the Big Four railroad was derailed near Ansonia. Three passenger cars turned over.

Two $25,000 Christmas gifts were received at Wittenberg college, one from Mr. and Mrs. George M. Pitney of Leipzig and the other from a Toledo business man, whose name was withheld.

For the second time within three weeks Jack Audrielle was attacked at Alliance. He was walking along the street near his home when three shots were fired at him. He fell seriously wounded.

Mrs. Emily Van Derveer died at her home in Hamilton of general debility, aged 92. She was the widow of General Ferdinand Van Derveer, a soldier of distinction in the Mexican and civil wars, who died in 1892.

Isaac W. Arnold, 38, automobile and implement dealer of Raymond, Union county, accused of passing worthless paper amounting to more than $100,000, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to an indeterminate term in the penitentiary.

Extra compensation in excess of $100,000, covering the last six months of 1920, were made to all employees of the Columbus Industries, including the Ohio State Journal and Columbus Dispatch, controlled by Robert F. Wolfe and Harry P. Wolfe.

General George W. Goethals accepted the invitation of Governor-elect Davis to visit Columbus for a conference relative to taking charge of the reorganization of the state highway department. Davis told him to come as soon as possible after Jan. 10.

General John C. Speaks was named grand marshal of the inauguration day parade, Jan. 16 at Columbus. His first get was to name as an aid Major G. A. Hamberger, Lancaster, for 40 years an aid on the staff of grand marshals of inauguration parades.

Mrs. Anna Mackall, a divorcee, and M. H. Heidrich, said to have been an admirer, were found dead in the woman's home at Toledo. Mrs. Mackall had been killed by blows on the head. The man was dead as the result of a self-inflicted pistol wound.

Fire at Kent destroyed the Buckeye bakery and damaged three other buildings. Loss $20,000.

At Dayton a robber entered the city railway company's barn, locked two men in a closet and escaped with $2,500.

Lorain police cleared up the $3,000 Super-Eddy robbery when they arrested two boys. The boys confessed, police say.

Dissatisfied, he said, because of the delay in the vice probe started by the city council at Dover, Chief of Police Ira Kressler resigned.

Vestry of Christ Episcopal church, Warren, has issued a call to Rev. Rudolph E. Shults of St. James Memorial church, Pittsburgh.

Mary Thompson, 12, Waynesburg, and Fern Baker, Cleveland, may die as the result of injuries received in auto accidents at Canton.

John Ott, 50, meat dealer of Copley Center, near Akron, was beaten, bound and gagged by two bandits, who robbed him of $500 and escaped.

Frightened by an approaching automobile while coasting in Youngstown, James Corrigan jumped, but was crushed beneath the wheels of the car.

Ned W. Unger, mayor of Mt. Vernon, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery on Milan Irvine, head of house proprietor. The charge resulted from an alleged altercation over erection by Irvine of a "spite fence." Unger's case was continued.

Food supply on Kellys Island, now cut off from connection with the mainland with navigation closed, was reduced when fire destroyed the Frank Reinheimer general store, one of two places which supply the 800 islanders with their winter provisions. Loss $20,000.

Patrolman Victor E. Swickard shot and killed Edward Bection, negro, when the latter pointed a pistol at him in a Columbus restaurant. Trouble originated over the attempt of Deputy Sheriff Foster to arrest Mrs. Carrie Bection, wife of the man later slain, for alleged unlawful furnishing of booze.

Fire destroyed the Robinson grain elevator at Deshler.

Martin Beagle, 93, Findlay, was seriously burned when a house in which he was lying seriously ill was destroyed by fire.

Amendments to present city ordinances which would provide jail sentences for gamblers will be proposed in the reorganization of Akron's municipal laws.

Charges made by the Akron Church federation that police are protecting tens of vice in that city may be brought before the next grand jury for investigation.

Fire caused by the explosion of a transformer in the boiler room of the Yarnan Heating company's plant at Toledo caused damage estimated at $150,000.

El Criswell, collector for a chain of grocery stores at Canton, was attacked on the street, beaten, chloroformed and robbed of $1,000 in money and checks.

Very Rev. Michael V. Balogh, 56, supervising head of the 35 Hungarian Greek Catholic churches in America, died at his home in Cleveland of pneumonia.

Governor Cox appointed Judge Charles H. Kyle, Xenia, Republican, a member of the state board of clemency to succeed Randolph W. Walton, Columbus, resigned.

"We must be as courteous to a man as to a picture, which we are willing to give the benefit of a good light." It was Emerson who wrote that trenchant sentence. Who else could say as much in so few words? All the philosophy of charitable human intercourse is contained in it. How it rebukes us for our snap judgments of the people we meet casually, but do not know. "I always know right away whether I am going to like anyone or not. My first impressions are generally right." Think of our prattling away like that, as we do so often, without stopping to think whether we are giving true first impressions of ourselves to others. Sometimes the man whom we have most heartily condemned at first sight seems, when we meet him later under different conditions, in his home, for instance, to be an entirely different creature, says Ohio State Journal. Let us wait, at least, until we get our subjects in a "good light," before we try to judge them. If we can ever pretend to judge.

It is to be hoped the horrible story of the burning alive of the czarina of Russia and her family is untrue. So many tales have been told of the disposal of the czar and the imperial family that one is not more entitled to credence than the other and, especially are the tales of murder to be doubted which offer as part proof the fact of jewels being found with parts of human bodies. Such men as the murderers are represented would never leave jewels lying about to tell the awful tale. It now seems likely that the real mystery of the unfortunate Romanoffs will never be solved.

KANTLEEK

It Can't Leak, Because It's Made in One Piece

A KANTLEEK is built like a bottle—all in one piece.

Most hot-water bottles are made in sections, then cemented together. When cement dries and cracks, the bottle leaks.

Every Kantleek Hot-Water Bag is moulded of pure soft rubber—one continuous piece. No parts, patches, cement. Even stopper socket is moulded in.

And guaranteed for a full two years' service—or a new Kantleek free.

Don't wait until your old bag leaks. Get a Kantleek. Your old one may break open tonight.

A Word About Prices and Discounts

Viewing this price proposition from as nearly an unbiased attitude as possible we agree that SALE values are confusing to say the least.

We are going to cite one instance to prove our point. The Anglo-Persian Rug is a standard piece of merchandise on which the manufacturer has set a price, with an opportunity twice a year to clean up odd patterns. The last official list was $195.00. The rug market broke Nov. 9th and the new list dropped to $150.00. But in order to clean up odd patterns and reduce extraordinary stocks they agreed to extend the 30-day clean-up period to about three months.

Now comes the special sales—anywhere from 10% to 50% and here is where the rub comes. The fellow who is quoting half off is invariably going back some several months to the peak price for his price basis, and is offering no better bargains than the merchant whose lesser discounts are based on today's market.

Our policy of taking losses when due and keeping prices on market quotations made November a poor month, but Nov. 10th rug buyers got the advantage of about a 25% drop.

What is the answer to all this? Mr. Buyer you should use more care today than ever before. We invite a comparison of our 25% off prices with those ranging double that. Now, what applies to rugs applies more or less to everything else and you will do well to carefully consider our January prices.
